Charles A. Gardner's reception amounted to an ovation. He is, in our opinion, in every respect the equal of Joe Emmet as an actor, and incomparably his superior as a singer.-Indianapolis State Journal.

Notwithstanding the fact that it is six weeks since the great fire occurred at Seattle, and that several showers of rain have fallen since then, it is said that smoke may still be seen coming from the large heap of sawdust near where the Commercial mill stood.

A Clifton correspondent writes re-garding a boy named Rees, said to be garding a boy named Rees, said to be plause and enthusiasm can be taken a deserter from the Gartmore, who is as an argument the play will have a held in durance vile by a crowd of successful run during its six days' en-Greeks who practice the sin of Sodom gagement. The piece is something upon him. The boy is said to be go-ing crazy, which doesn't seem possible, as he was evidently crazy before he went there.

After years of patient observation and study of the subject, the writer has at last learned why ocean steamship employes accept such abject em ployment, so far beneath their proud and lofty spirits. It is that they may enjoy a singular comfort in noting the misery of seasick passengers and thinking "what sickens them doesn't bother me a bit."

Yesterday afternoon a man named Goddard working at the Clatsop mill met with a very severe accident through a piece of a saw striking him between the eyes, smashing his nose flat on his face and making a serious and dangerous wound. How he escaped losing his eyesight is a miracle. Medical assistance was procured and the sufferer made as comfortable as Rockford, W. T., street contractors are a wily lot. They had a street con-tract on which they found they were going to loose $1,500, so they put some gold nuggets in an excavation, and with great outery called on the crowd to see the find. An excited crowd "located" and dug out the whole hill and not till the contractors had it all dug down for them did they give the joke away.

A person entitled to pre-empt and homestead a quarter of a section of government land can either homestead or pre-empt first, as he chooses. The objection to homesteading first is that he cannot leave his homestead afterward to pre-empt, as the pre-emption law prohibits leaving "any land of his own to settle as a preemptor." The best way is to pre-

Karl, the Peddler, was produced at the Grand opera house last night by Charles A. Gardner and his company. A fair sized audience witnessed the initial performance of the piece in this city, and if the frequent burst of apgagement. The piece is something after the "Fritz" style, and Mr. Gardner plays his part to perfection, even excelling Emmet in some points. There is so much fun and genuine pathos crowded into the piece that it is well worth seeing.—Newark, N. J.,

Swartz told the husband of one of the ladies that Mrs. Witkind had been publicly disgraced by this publication and advised him not to When she found Swartzshe demanded to know why he had talked about her, and immediately drew a horsewhip from her parasol. Taken completely by surprise, Swartz could not defend himself until the enraged woman had administered several bloom with december 19 to 19 blows with damaging effect. He then seized the whip and struck her in the face with the butt end. Her husband, seeing the proceedings from the other side of the street, ran over and struck Swartz with a leather cane. The Witkinds were arrested and gave bonds. Swartz met Witkind that evening and knocked him down with a billet. Witkind arose and in turn felled Swartz with a loaded cane. A hard fist fight ensued, when captain of police Martin and two officers arrived and arrested both combatants, who were severely punished, but not dangerously hurt. The Witkinds were married a month ago. Mrs. Witkind is highly respected in the best circles of society. She is now prostrated with
